JOSEPH HARDING UNDERWOOD

'Ere this mountain land knew the pioneer,
Unknown tribes of strange races roamed
To live strange wild lives of action,
Guided in thought by legend, myth and fable.
Rugged sapphires still sprawl the earth crust
And recall the dragon of Indian lore.
But, now, the minds of men grasp
At the plan of a world
Reaching far beyond the blue of morning.
Rays of ever shifting light dazzle sight
And few are gifted to read their visions.
Those quiet scholars
Who in their mortal wandering
Have wrought true value in material intangible
Wear, at their journey's end,
The mantle of that true nobility
Whose worth is counted
In coin minted of themselves.

Dr. Morton J. Elrod, chairman of the Biology department, organized the department in February 1897. Classes were then held in the old Willard School building, which was the University at that time. The first class in the department consisted of six students. In 1926 the Biology department had thirty-five majors.

In 1898 the class rooms for the biology department were moved to Main Hall, where they remained until 1919. At this time the New Science building was constructed and the department was given more room and equipment. Until 1912 Botany and Zoology were included in one department.

The museum was started at the same time the department was founded. It consisted of personal collections of Dr. Elrod's and those of members of his classes. In 1899, the Biological station was started at Yellow Bay, on Flathead lake. A building for the materials collected was erected in 1912. Although the station has not been open for five summers, it has been in existence more than twenty-five years.

Botany, the science dealing with the life, behavior, distribution and classification of plants, was elected by four students in the fall of 1910. This science was given in connection with Forestry, Joseph E. Kirkwood teaching both courses. Three years later when the School of Forestry was established as a separate unit, Botany was retained in the College of Arts and Sciences and Dr. Kirkwood remained as chairman of the department.

A museum of both botanical and biological subjects occupies a large part of the third floor of the Natural Science building. Additions are being made constantly to the collection. From the original number of 7,000, there are now 18,000 herbarium specimens.

In the fall of 1926, one hundred seventy-five students representing fifteen percent of the student body, were registered in Botany.

Potential corporation executives and financial wizards are found in the School of Business Administration of which Shirley J. Coon, who came to the University in 1919 at the request of President E. O. Sisson, was the organizer. Prior to this time, there had been courses in business, but there was a constant demand for more specialized lines. Business Administration was a department for about two years and then became a separate school. Two instructors assisted Dean Coon.

During the year 1926-1927, there were ninety-two students in the department. The total number of graduates of the School is one hundred five, an average of more than twenty each year. Only juniors and seniors are admitted to major in Business Administration, but underclassmen may take a Pre-Business Administration course, which will prepare them for more advanced work.

Chemistry was first offered in 1895 when the University opened. Shephen A. Merritt was the first professor of Chemistry, although he taught Natural Science and Physics as well. He was succeeded by Fred D. Smith and Dr. Harkins, as professors of Chemistry.

Dr. Jesse and Dr. Bateman joined the faculty of the Chemistry department in 1912, while Dr. Howard came to the State University in 1915.

The Science hall was constructed in 1898. Previous to this time, chemistry laboratory work had not been developed to any great extent, because of the lack of equipment and necessary room.

In 1926 the Chemistry department had a total of thirty-six majors.

Economics was first taught in 1897 by Oscar Craig, who was then president of the University.

Dr. J. H. Underwood, who organized the Economics department, did not become a member of the faculty of the State University until 1907. At that time he was head of the History and Economics department, under which department Economics, Sociology, History and Political Science were taught. In 1911 the Economics department was organized as a separate department.

At the time of Dr. Underwood's death in October 1926, Dr. S. J. Coon, dean of the School of Business Administration, was appointed head of the Economics department.

In June of 1926, there were thirty majors in the Economics department.

Education work began with two courses in 1904 under the department of Philosophy, but became a separate department in 1914.

By a legislative act of 1911, the University issues certificates of Qualification to Teach to graduates, who satisfactorily complete the course and work outlined. Prior to this time, University graduates were by law given a life diploma to teach after two years successful teaching experience. Observation and Practice Teaching was therefore introduced. Nine graduates in 1914 received the first certificates offered. In 1926, one hundred six earned certificates.

Under the leadership of Freeman Daughters, assisted by W. R. Ames and W. E. Maddock, the Education department offers seventeen courses regularly during the year and fourteen or fifteen additional courses during the summer session. Professor Maddock devotes approximately one-third of his time to work of the Extension Division and the placement of teachers.

Oscar J. Craig, former president of the State University, was the first professor of Literature in 1895. In 1898 Eunice Hubbell and Eloise Knowles were added to the faculty of the Rhetoric and Literature department. President Craig was then chairman of the department.

Miss Frances Corbin, who is the oldest member of the faculty of the English department, has been at the University for a quarter of a century. Mr. Merriam became chairman of the department in September of 1919.

In 1920 the Frontier was first published by the Creative Writing class. The magazine, which is the work of English students, appears once a quarter. This is the seventh year of publication.

The English department has grown to be one of the largest departments in the University. In 1926 there were one hundred thirteen majors in the department.

FINE ARTS

Professor
CLIFFORD RIEDELL

Fine Arts received its introduction at Montana under the supervision of Eloise Knowles in 1898. The art studio was located in the old Williamson building. Later it was moved to the third floor of Main hall, where it occupies two rooms; the main art room and the art office.

Free hand drawing was the leading course taught during the early days. Today a variety of courses are taught including Drawing, Design, History of Art, and Advanced Work in Art.

The Art department has a large number of casts, pictures, and photographs from which its students take their work. At present there are thirty-one majors and seventy-five other students enrolled in this department. It is now the third largest school in the University.

Public attention is being attracted to the art department through the displays of art work by other artists and from other art departments that they exhibit.

In 1895, the year of the organization of the University, Modern Languages were offered in connection with the department of engineering, Frederick C. Scheuch, now vice-president of the university, taking charge of both departments.

Two degrees were then offered: one in Modern Languages, the other in Ancient Languages, of which William M. Aber was professor. At his death in 1918, the Ancient Language department was discontinued until W. P. Clark came in 1921. The departments then merged into one and a degree in Foreign Languages was offered.

At the order of the Council of Defense, the study of German was discontinued in 1917. A huge bonfire destroyed textbooks and reference books of the language. Fortunately, a good German library was not destroyed. Two years ago the study of German was revived.

In the year 1912, a ranger school was established at the University of Montana by the Government. Mr. Skeels, now Professor in the Forestry School was at the head of the Ranger School and had as his assistant, Dr. Kirkwood. Forestry School classes at this time were held in a little room in the attic of Main Hall with an attendance of seven students.

The State Legislature created the School of Forestry in 1914. Professor Skeels secured $35,000 from the government and built a shack for the Forestry School, which is now the A. S. U. M. Store.

The little shack served well seven years. With the increase of forestry students, the course demanded a larger and better building and in 1921 one of the finest forestry buildings in the West was built.

Geology at Montana is under the supervision of expert authorities. Dr. Jesse P. Rowe and Dr. Charles H. Clapp have both done research work along geological lines, and have improved the department by adding to its supplies and collections each year.

The department opened on December 15, 1900 with Dr. Rowe, present chairman, at the head. Fifteen students attended the first class which was held in two rooms in the Pharmacy building. The department now has over two hundred students taking Geology, and ten special students majoring in the course.

The Geology department has a large number of supplies, which it keeps collecting and adding to each year; either by purchase, exchange or research work.

Missoula is a rich territory in Geologic deposits and offers a wonderful opportunity, both to the instructor and the student, to study in practical work of the Geologic field.

Work in History was offered in conjunction with the department of Social Science in the beginning years of the University. Professor Paul C. Phillips became chairman when History was made a department in 1912. Harrison A. Trexler of Johns Hopkins University specializing in European History, joined the faculty in 1913 and Professor J. Earl Miller in 1919. Professors Bennett and Tonning have come but recently.

Political and Economic Progress, a general course in elementary social science for freshmen, was inaugurated in 1922 by the departments of History and Economics. Nineteen students were graduated in History in 1925 and about the same number will be candidates for degrees this year.

A library of Northwest History, perhaps the most extensive in the world, is found in what is known as the "Treasure Room" of the library building. The department also has an extensive collection of English Constitutional history.

Future home makers, dietitians, tea room managers and teachers are trained in the department of Home Economics. Mary Elizabeth Edwards of Ohio State University was the original instructor in this department, coming to the school during the summer of 1913. She was assisted later by Gertrude Curtiss Paxton.

Through the Smith-Hughes Act, the department receives special aid and works in some courses with the Home Economics department of the government. During the year 1925-26, more than half the number of women students in the University were registered in some Home Economics course. This year there are sixty majors in the department.

The courses offered cover a wide field: nutrition, clothing and design, institutional cookery, textiles, and home administration and planning are among the varied subjects given in the department.

Professor Robert Holiday taught the first course of Journalism at Montana by erecting two tents in front of the women's gymnasium and announcing that the school was open to all who would run the risk of pneumonia in their effort to become a journalist.

The School of Journalism was officially opened by Dean A. L. Stone, present Dean of Journalism at Montana, in 1914 with about fifteen students in attendance. A shack was constructed and was the home of the early Journalists until after the World War when the school moved into Marcus Cook Hall, the war barracks. It has housed the School of Journalism since 1921.

Today the School of Journalism is the largest school on the Campus. Its courses have been greatly increased and student majors now number one hundred seventy, with more than fifty other students taking courses in the department.

The "Montana Kaimin," the student paper, is put out twice a week by the Journalism students. Sigma Delta Chi, national Journalism fraternity, sends out news stories each week to state papers and keeps Montana people informed on University happenings.

Montana's Law School was established in 1911, and was located in the present law building which was then the University library. It occupied one of the floors of the building and had a small law library.

At present the Law School is one of the outstanding schools on the Montana Campus, occupying the three story law building, with a fine library which is adding thousands of dollars worth of books to its shelves each year.

Standard courses are offered. The faculty is composed of graduates of law schools at Harvard, Yale and Chicago University.

One of the outstanding features of the law school is the establishment of the honor system, which has been successfully operated since the founding of the institution.

Montana's law school is listed as a class "A" and is a member of the Association of American Law Schools.

Courses were first offered in Library Economy in 1911. Since that time, thirteen women have majored in this department, two have minored. Among the subjects offered are: Cataloging, Reference, Library Administration and Economy, Selection and Buying of Books, and Public Documents. The study of Public Documents is an important one, because the University has been designated as a depository for every official document issued by the government.

In addition to class study, practical experience is gained by practice work for a prescribed length of time in the different libraries of Missoula. The high school, university, city and county libraries afford varied types of study.

Two years of college work are required before the student may take up the regular technical courses. Preliminary practice of one hundred eighty hours in an approved library is a pre-requisite for the beginning courses.

An innovation in the fields of science is the study of Survey of Mathematics, sponsored by the University of Montana. Professor N. J. Lennes, head of the Mathematics Department since 1913, instigated the idea in an article in the Educational Review in which he stressed the value of the study of mathematics for culture. Since that time, Dr. Lennes has written a text book on the subject which is now used in twenty-five colleges. The new arrangement covers trigonometry, analytic geometry, calculus, etc.

Miss Cynthia Elizabeth Reilly, one of the first five members of the faculty, was the original instructor in mathematics at the university. Louis Clark Plant, coming in 1907, and Eugene F. A. Carey in 1909 assisted her. L. S. Hill and A. S. Merrill were also faculty members. Mr. Merrill is now in Scotland studying statistics.

R. O. T. C. was organized at Montana by the National Defense Act. The object is to provide systematic military training at civil educational institutions for the purpose of qualifying selected students for appointment as Reserve officers in the Military forces of the United States and give valuable training in citizenship and duty.

Montana's Military department belongs to the Senior division, with an instructor and a number of assistants from the regular United States Army, at its head.

Freshmen and Sophomores at the University are required to take R. O. T. C. A selected few take the advanced courses and are granted a regular United States commission.

During the origin of the department at the University only military tactics were taught. At present a number of features have been added. Shooting matches are held between the companies and the different institutions compete against one another. Athletics is being taken up by the Military department and a track meet and baseball games will be held during the spring quarter.

At present over 60 students are enrolled in Pharmacy and the school has developed from a two to a three year course, and hopes before long to be able to give a four year certificate to graduates. There are over one hundred fifty alumni practicing Pharmacy in the United States who are graduates from Montana's Pharmacy School.

The Pharmacy school is a member of the National Association of Colleges of Pharmacy, and the United States Pharmaceutical Revision Corporation. Dean Mollett and Mr. Suchy are both registered pharmacists.

In 1922 one of the finest Gymnasiums in the Northwest replaced the old women's gym. It is well equipped including a large basketball floor, running track, boxing and wrestling room, fencing room, locker rooms, swimming pool, and varsity and freshmen dressing rooms.

There are now over five hundred forty men and three hundred fifty women taking some form of Physical Education at Montana, with the instructional staff increased to twelve members.

The new stadium at Montana was completed in 1925. Athletic work at Montana has progressed very rapidly in the last two years, as is shown by the fact that Montana has joined the Pacific Coast Conference, one of the fastest conferences in the United States.

Dr. Elrod, present professor of Biology, was the first head of the Physics and Sciences department, which opened in 1896.

The Physics department occupied one-half of the floor space on the ground floor of the old Science hall during the early days. It consisted of a lecture room that seated fifty students and a laboratory in which twenty-four students could work at one time. Apparatus was scarce and consisted mostly of subjects to produce light and electricity.

Today the department is located in the New Science hall, occupying almost a complete floor of the building. It has a large laboratory room with equipment and apparatus to put on the hardest Physics tests.

Majors in the Physics department have increased four-fold since the opening of the department. There has been an increasing demand for men trained in physics, through new social influences such as X-ray and radio.

J. M. Hamilton, dean of men at the Montana State College, was the first occupant of the chair of psychology in the university in 1901. The departments of psychology and education were closely allied; the instructors were usually the same in both subjects. Drs. H. E. Wolf, William F. Book and Thaddeus L. Bolton were successive heads of the departments of Philosophy, Education, Psychology and Method. Dr. F. O. Smith, present head of the department, came in 1915.

The library of the department subscribes for all the leading American and foreign psychological journals and so keeps abreast of the latest discoveries and investigations. The psychology laboratory is well equipped with scientific apparatus and laboratory materials. During the year 1925-26 there were five hundred fifty registrations in the ten courses offered in psychology and philosophy.

Director

By the cooperative effort of the President of the University, the Law School, and the Missoula Ministerial Association, the School of Religion was created in 1924. A student may earn as many as fifteen credits in this department towards his degree.

The School of Religion is non-sectarian in spirit as well as in organization. Dogmatism and intolerance have no place in the class room. An earnest effort is made to be pedagogically sound and scientifically accurate in method. The purpose of the School is to make its necessary contribution to the development of the whole man—social, intellectual, aesthetic and religious. The interest in the study of religion is evidenced by the steady growth in enrollment each quarter.

CLASS OF 1898

It was a bright June day in 1898.

Two young women, the first graduates of the State University, walked from the campus, realizing that they were no longer Montana students; they were now Montana's first alumni.

One of them, Eloise Knowles, returned to the campus in the fall of 1898 as an instructor in the fine arts department. She served the University in this capacity until 1915, when ill health forced her to go to California on a leave of absence. The following spring she lost the fight for health, and answered the final Roll Call. Eloise was the daughter of Judge Hiram Knowles of Missoula, and received her early education in a girls' school at Boston.

Mrs. Ella Robb Glenny, the other of the two, was the wife of the chief dispatcher for the Northern Pacific railroad here. Before coming to Montana she attended the University of Minnesota. Mrs. Glenny is now living in Chariton, Iowa.

Away back in 1923 several hundred freshmen entered the University, and rumor had it that the class was one of the best ever to wear the green.

The Class of 1927 was the first to live in North and South halls. The Frosh that year had the highest average of the classes, and since the beginning the class has always had a splendid representation on the University honor roll.

Some of the greatest athletes Montana has ever had are members of the Class of '27. The names of Gillette, Kelley and Sweet brought nation-wide recognition to Montana athletics. Cogswell, Coyle, Ritter, Stark, D. Hanson, R. Davis, Tarbox, Burrell, Ted and Bill Hodges have all been outstanding in the various sports. All of these men have been instrumental in bringing honors to Montana.

| JACOB MILLER | President |

| HELEN DAHLBERG | Secretary |
| EDWARD OER | Treasurer |
| MILTON BROWN | Central Board |

Red vests with yellow "28's" were the distinguishing garb worn by both men and women of the Junior class this year. This is something new as heretofore Junior men have worn "cords" and Junior women have had no insignia.

Since the painting of the "M" in freshman days, the class has kept its pep and energy. As sophomores, the Tans and Bear Paws served efficiently. Various members have received recognition in dramatics, debate, scholarship, Glee club, and athletics. Outstanding athletes are: Miller, Pearce, Bessey, Rognlien, Vierhus, Tierman, Brittenham, Whitcomb, Ostrum, Rafferty, Cain, Morrow, Drew, S. Hanson, Graham, Overturf, Adams, Tysel, Davis, B. Hodges, Harmon and Wohl.

On October 14 the first meeting of the Sophomore class was held for the purpose of electing officers.

At a meeting held the latter part of November, plans for the annual Sophomore dance held in honor of the Frosh were discussed. The dance proved to be unusually successful.

On October 9 the new members of Tanans, Sophomore honorary for women, and of Pear Paw, Sophomore honorary for men, were tapped.

There were approximately three hundred Sophomores registered in the fall quarter.

The fall of 1927 witnessed the enrollment of the largest Frosh class in the history of the University. This year the Frosh were given a week in which to register and get settled before scheduled classes began. This time was designated as Freshman Week. During this week the class selected temporary officers: Henry Miller was chosen President; Russell Smith, Vice President; Geraldine Gray, Secretary; Wm. Graffin, Treasurer; and Paul Needham, Representative to Central Board.

Under Miller's leadership the class painted the M, issued the proclamation and built a huge bonfire for the rally which preceded the Idaho game. Permanent officers were chosen later. Under these officers the class of '30 recently gave the M its easter coat of Whitewash, planned a party for the Sophomores and made plans for class day.

Under the editorship of George Greenwood the first Sentinel made its appearance in 1904. It was the first college annual to be issued in the state. The staff in their message to the student body said: "We have begun and laid the corner stone. You must take up the work where we have left it."

From a publication of ninety-one pages with twenty-five cuts the Sentinel has grown to a book of two hundred-fifty pages with more than three hundred pictures.

THE FIRST "FRONTIER"

PROFESSOR H. G. MERRIAM
Advisor

Founded and published for the first time in the fall of 1919 by a new class on the campus, that of creative writing, the Montanan immediately gained popularity and prestige until it now holds a meritorious position among the publications of its kind throughout the country. A few years ago the name of the publication was changed to Frontier.

The Frontier is a literary gem, published quarterly under the supervision of a board of editors chosen from the creative writing class. It contains poetry, short stories and prose composition, submitted by Montana students and ex-students.

Developing from a monthly magazine, owned and printed by the old Press Club and appearing for the first time in 1908, the Montana Kaimin has become one of the best semi-weekly university publications in the northwest.

About 1910, under the editorship of George Stone, the form was changed from a magazine to a five column newspaper, 12x17, and it was printed until 1912 without organized student support. The club sold the Kaimin to A. S. U. M. in 1912.

The paper has been increased in size, and for the past three years it has been issued semi-weekly and now has a circulation of one thousand two hundred.

The Montana Alumnus, the publication of the alumni of the State University of Montana, is issued four times a year. The Alumnus was first published in October, 1906, and the paper was issued quarterly, as it is now. It was started first as a means of stimulating the alumni association to a greater activity. The '08 Sentinel says of it. "So far the work has been largely experimental . . . It has come to stay; and staying, it will devote all the power to the upholding of an enthusiastic alumni association." George Greenwood was the first editor and Harold Blake the first business manager.

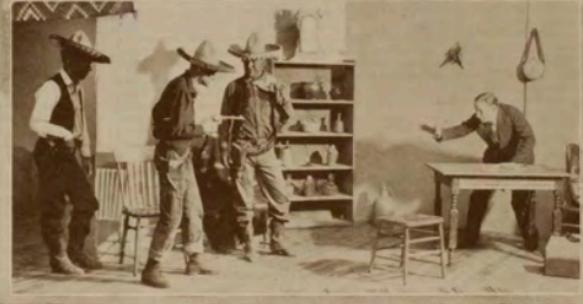

THE BAD MAN

University dramatics became a definite part of the student body with the construction of the campus "Little Theatre" during the fall term. Simpkins Hall, an old war time barracks, was chosen as the theater location and the work of remodeling one wing of the building into a stage and auditorium was completed early in November.

The first play to be presented was "The Bad Man," by Porter Emerson Brown. This was staged on the nights of November 24, 25 and 26 with great success. Critics were of the opinion that it was the best production of its kind ever presented by University players. The Kaimin review classed the play as: "—a rapid fire comedy and a real laughing hit—all the thrills of a genuine murder coupled with an unusual love story.—the cast performed to perfection."

H. M. S. PINAFORE

With the start of the winter term, the Masquers, in cooperation with the music department, produced "H. M. S. Pinafore," the famous Gilbert and Sullivan opera, again with marked success. The theater capacity of three hundred was taxed to the limit for the three nights of the show ran. "Long continuous applause and the enchain'd attention of a capacity audience, ovated the initial presentation . . . it was an animated performance . . . spirited and colorful"

THE WORLD AND HIS WIFE

"The World and His Wife" was the third vehicle. Presented on the nights of February 17, 18 and 19, it scored another success for the dramatics department. "To say that the play was interesting, forceful, realistic—would be to underrate the performance greatly—it is safe to say that the Montana Masquers, with the able direction of Carl Glick, have produced a drama worthy of the highest praise."

THE GOOSE HANGS HIGH

"The Goose Hangs High," a contemporary drama of modern life, was produced at the Little Theater as the last major theatrical performance of the school year. In its three night run it brought out the unanimous approval of all spectators. Fifteen people were in the cast, only two of them had ever before appeared in a University production.

In the fall of 1919, Montana established debating relations with other colleges, meeting several teams. In 1921-22 we debated Columbia University at Butte, and this same year held our first annual debate tour. A woman's team was also organized at this time.

This year has been the fullest and most successful Montana has ever had, having participated in twenty-five contests. Of the ten debates held while on the tour, Montana won four, lost three and three were non-decision.

Those who won their gold M for debating are: Archer, Aronowsky, Astle, Beck, A. Blair, E. Blair, Bonner, Booth, Brennan, Gorton, Haugland, Grandley, Johnson, Lake, Larsen, McCarthy, McFarland, Murray, Negherbon, Phelps, Pool, Reeley, Sager, Smith, Thomas, Wohl.

GRIZZLY BAND

ALBERT HOELSCHER—Director

Montana's first Grizzly Band was formed when a Missoula band disorganized in 1898 and gave its instruments to the State University. Until the spring of 1922 the band was a student organization almost entirely. At that time Professor E. A. Atkinson took charge of the group and moulded a real military band out of the loose student organization.

Professor Albert Hoelscher took control of the band in the fall of 1925 and has finished the work started by Professor Atkinson, that of lifting the Grizzly Band to its present high standard.

MONTANA'S FIRST GLEE CLUB

GLEE CLUB

DELOSS SMITH - - - - - Director
BERNICE BERRY - - - - - Accompanist

The idea which led to Montana's first glee club was conceived in February, 1903. Under the leadership of R. Blinn Owen, a club of sixteen men was organized from students and faculty; after a considerable amount of practice concerts were given in Hamilton and at Missoula.

In 1913 DeLoss Smith took over the club, and under his leadership the club has made an enviable name for itself around the state. Nearly every year the club has made a tour of the state, and has been warmly received at every stop along its way. This year several shorter trips were made instead of the long tour.

MONTANA'S FIRST ORCHESTRA

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

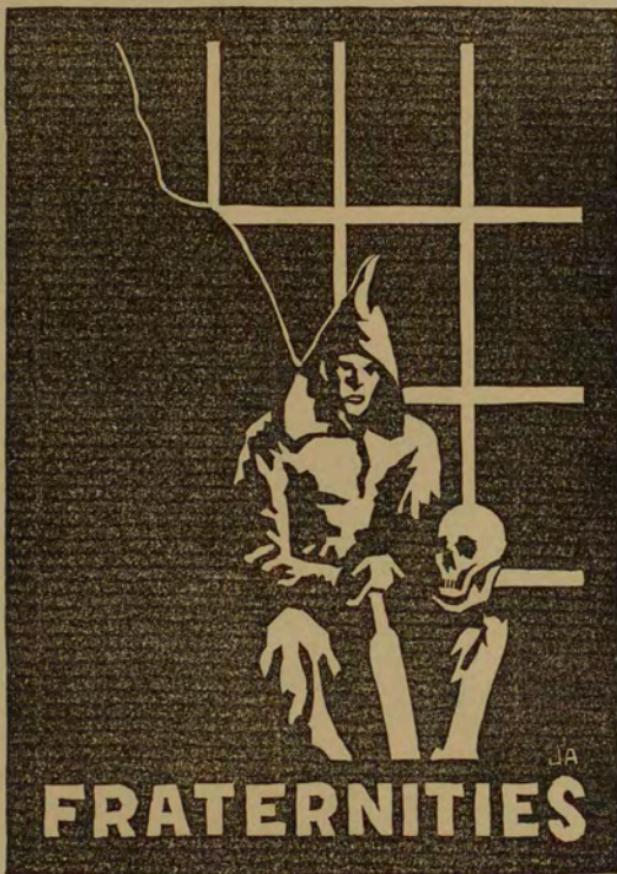

Professor A. H. Weisberg organized the University Symphony Orchestra in 1920 and gave a concert at the Liberty theatre in the fall of that year.

The Orchestra is limited to thirty players and each year the standard of performance has improved until it is now the outstanding organization of its kind in the state.

In the fall of 1926 the Orchestra played a concert at Hamilton. The result of this may lead to the giving of more concerts in places near Missoula.

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

|-----------------|-------------|
| WALTER SANFORD | President |
| THOMAS B. IRVIN | Vice-Pres. |
| BRYAN LEVERICH | Sec.-Treas. |

Inter-fraternity council is composed of two delegates from each social fraternity on the campus. The council's function is to act as a governing body with general control over the men's greek-letter organizations. Rules for the handling of rushing week, pledging of men, and for the settlement of any difficulties among the fraternities are made up by this group.

This year the fraternities, through the council, aided the Masquers in the purchase of a curtain for the Little Theatre, and the Bear Paws in replacing the "M" on the tower of Main Hall.

HISTORY OF FRATERNITIES

Eta Phi Mu, a local organization which appeared in 1904, was the first men's social fraternity on the Montana campus. Sigma Nu was installed as the first national fraternity on the campus in January, 1905. Eta Phi Mu was installed as Sigma Chi in September, 1906.

In 1907 the Inter Nos club was founded, later becoming Iota Nu. It remained a local until 1923, when it was inducted into Phi Sigma Kappa. Alpha Gamma Phi, founded in 1916, became Sigma Phi Epsilon in 1918. Delta Rho, also founded in 1916, was established as Phi Delta Theta in 1921. The Karnak Klub, founded in 1921, obtained its Alpha Tau Omega charter in 1923. Sigma Alpha, founded in 1922, was granted a charter by Sigma Alpha Epsilon and installed early in 1927.

Alpha Delta Alpha, founded in 1916, was granted a charter in Kappa Sigma in May, 1927. The Templars, a group of Masons and DeMolays, organized in 1924.

HISTORY OF SORORITIES

Delta Sigma, the first women's social fraternity on the campus, was organized in 1905. Beta Phi chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma was granted to Delta Sigma in March 1909. Kappa Alpha Theta was installed in July of 1909. The local, Theta Phi, was organized in 1906.

Sigma Tau Gamma, which appeared on the campus in 1908, received their charter as Pi chapter of Delta Gamma in 1911. Delta Phi Zeta, organized in 1916, and became Alpha Phi in 1918.

Chelys Club, organized in 1921, was granted a charter from Alpha Chi Omega in 1923. Four new national sororities appeared on the campus in 1924. Delta Sigma Chi, founded in 1919, became Kappa Delta. Omega Xi, organized in 1921, became Alpha Xi Delta in 1924. Beta Zeta, founded in 1922, received a charter from Sigma Kappa in 1924.

Phi Beta received a charter from Delta Delta Delta in October 1926. The local organization was founded in 1922.

PRESIDENT CRAIG
Founder

SILENT SENTINEL

Silent Sentinel was founded as a secret body in 1904 under the leadership of President Craig and Professor Sibley to promote a spirit of self-sacrifice and the desire to work for the betterment of the University.

President Duniway, who was greatly opposed to all secret organizations, took control of the University in 1908, and Silent Sentinel was forced to make known its membership and activities, shortly afterwards becoming nonexistent.

In 1921 it was revived and has exerted considerable influence on student affairs since that time. Members are "tapped" in their Junior year by Dean Stone at the Track-meet SOS.

Bear Paw, men's sophomore honorary organization, has as its purpose to meet, welcome and entertain all visitors on Montana's campus. The members are wardens of the University traditions.

The first group was selected by Silent Sentinel on November 5, 1920 and their first official act was to meet and entertain the State College Football team on November 12.

Twenty members are tapped each fall at the first football game for the ability and spirit they demonstrated as freshmen.

MORTAR BOARD

ELOISE KNOWLES

Penetralia, established in 1904 by Eloise Knowles and Ruth Kellogg as a Senior women's local honorary fraternity, is recognized as one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a University woman. Membership is chosen on the basis of promotion, loyalty and service to the interests of the University.

On April 10, 1927, Penetralia was taken into Mortar Board, national honorary Senior women's organization.

Eight Junior women are called to membership in the spring who in turn select five more members from the incoming Senior class the following fall.

Tanan, honorary Sophomore women's organization, although established only three years ago on the State University campus, has found a rapidly increasing sphere for their activities.

They cooperate with Bear Paws in maintaining traditions, help locate and register new students and provide for the convenience of contestants and visitors at Interscholastic Track Meet and similar occasions. Members are chosen for outstanding interest in activities shown in their freshmen year, and for ability in their respective fields and a spirit of willingness.

The first dramatic society of the University of Montana was founded in 1904. A group of enthusiastic students and faculty organized "Quill and Dagger." Daniel Bandman, noted Shakesperian actor, directed plays till the time of his death.

Again in 1914 a dramatic club was organized. Productions were presented under the direction of Mrs. Alice McLeod. Dramatics continued to be an extra-curricular activity till 1915, when it became one of the courses offered. Three years later the present organization, the Masquer's club, was instituted.

With the coming of Professor H. G. Merriam, work in dramatics revived, after being suspended during the war. In 1920 the first regular dramatics instructor was engaged.

The Alchemist Club was completely reorganized this year and is now petitioning a national chemistry fraternity. The club is more advanced than others on the campus as a membership requirement is at least ten hours of work in the chemistry department. It meets every two weeks and talks are given by members of the faculty and students. Its purpose in meeting is to stimulate an interest in Chemistry and create a closer fellowship between students engaged in this study.

"The Women's League" founded in 1914 to include every University woman was the beginning of our present women's self-governing body known as Associated Women Students. The first effective work was done in 1920, when the Women's League was organized for self-government with a board of executive officers to make the rules by which the women are governed.

Representatives from each sorority and women's dormitory, the AWS officers and chairman of the Big and Little Sister Movement comprise the executive board. AWS sponsors a number of social affairs each year: the annual May fete, Co-ed Prom, Co-ed Formal, Lantern Parade and annual picnic. It also maintains a loan fund for upperclass women.

CLARK TROPHY

BILL KELLY

This huge tackle, captain elect for 1927, has been a true Grizzly in his two years of varsity football. Not a flashy player but a plunger fighting every minute to bring victory to the Copper, Silver and Gold. Lou will be a great captain and will lead one of Montana's greatest teams.

Presented by
W. A. CLARK, III.

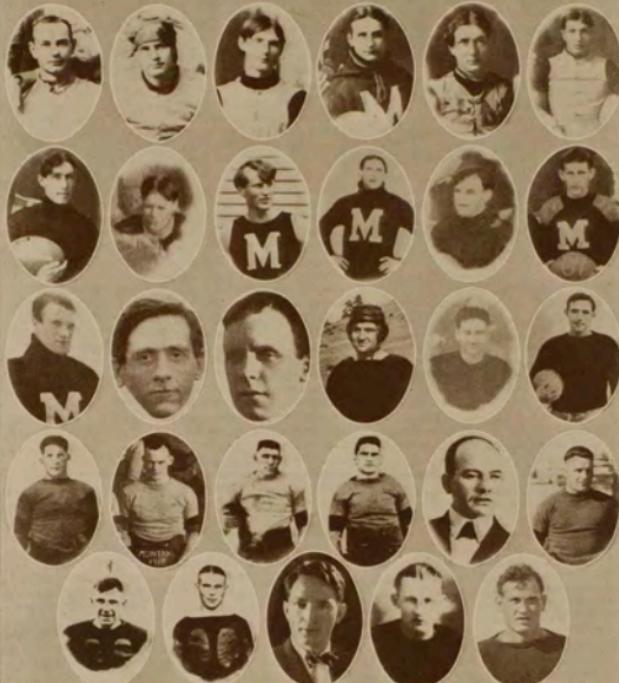

To the winner of two out of three annual contests between the Bobcat and the Grizzly football teams. Beginning October 23rd, 1925.

Known as "Wild Bill" to American football fans, he has raced for touchdowns, tackled viciously and fought for three years. He is the greatest back ever to have trod Montana gridirons and one of the greatest the country has produced. He has been chosen All-Pacific for three years and named on many All-American backfields.

One of the flashiest Grizzly teams ever to be seen in action defeated the Bobcats 27-0 on Clark Field, Butte, November 23. It was the first team to be turned out by Major Frank Milburn at Montana and that team won the praise of the entire Northwest.

Coming from the East where he had coached for several years and where he had gained fame while at West Point, Major Milburn found up here in the wilds of Montana a boy by the name of "Wild Bill" Kelly, who for two years had flashed like a comet on Western gridirons.

Parmalee, Blair, Ross, Shults, Callison, McCarthy, Morrow and Houston were listed as backfield prospects when practice was opened September 15.

The line jobs were sought by several lettermen including: Ends: Brittenham, letterman; Davis, Tierman, L. Stewart, Rognlien, Fogarty, Coyle and Alling. Centers: Ostrum and Rafferty, lettermen; and Tarbet. Guards: Cogswell, Martinson, lettermen, Murray, Barfell, McNiven, S. Stewart, Ernst, Lincek, and V. Stepanoff. Tackles: Whitcomb, and Vierhus, lettermen; Harmon, Jelly and McIver. These men drew equipment from Manager Hollingsworth and reported for duty under the heaviest schedule yet attempted by a Montana team.

Gardiner, Captain Gregory, Babcock, Grady, Wellington and Penfield were stopped by a line of fighting Grizzlies. Captain Kelly proved a wild man. He threw passes, tackled viciously, tore off yardage at will in his last game against the traditional foes. Ritter and Davis outshone anything the Farmers offered and helped by the entire Grizzly squad gave the State College its worst defeat in years.

GONZAGA

Gonzaga's Bulldog proved stubborn competition. After trailing the Grizzlies for more than three quarters of the game, they grabbed a new hold on the pigskin and scored a touchdown that brought them victory.

Again Kelly satisfied Inland Empire admirers who turned out to see how the famous Grizzly captain would stack up against Mel Ingram, Gonzaga's star.

WHITMAN

Reaching the peak of mid-season training the Grizzlies trounced the Whitman Missionaries in the last home game of the year. It was Wild Bill Kelly's last game on Dornblaser field and one of the greatest games of his career. Not until the referee's final whistle did the ones who had watched and marveled at Wild Bill through high school and Milton Bitter, Andy Cogswell, Carl Martinson, Walter Burrell and Ted and Bill Hodges had also played their last game on Dornblaser field for the Copper, Silver and Gold.

CALIFORNIA

Montana took an easy victory from the California Aggies at Sacramento. A week later the mighty Trojan Horde from Southern California thundered through a weary Grizzly team in the last game of the season.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

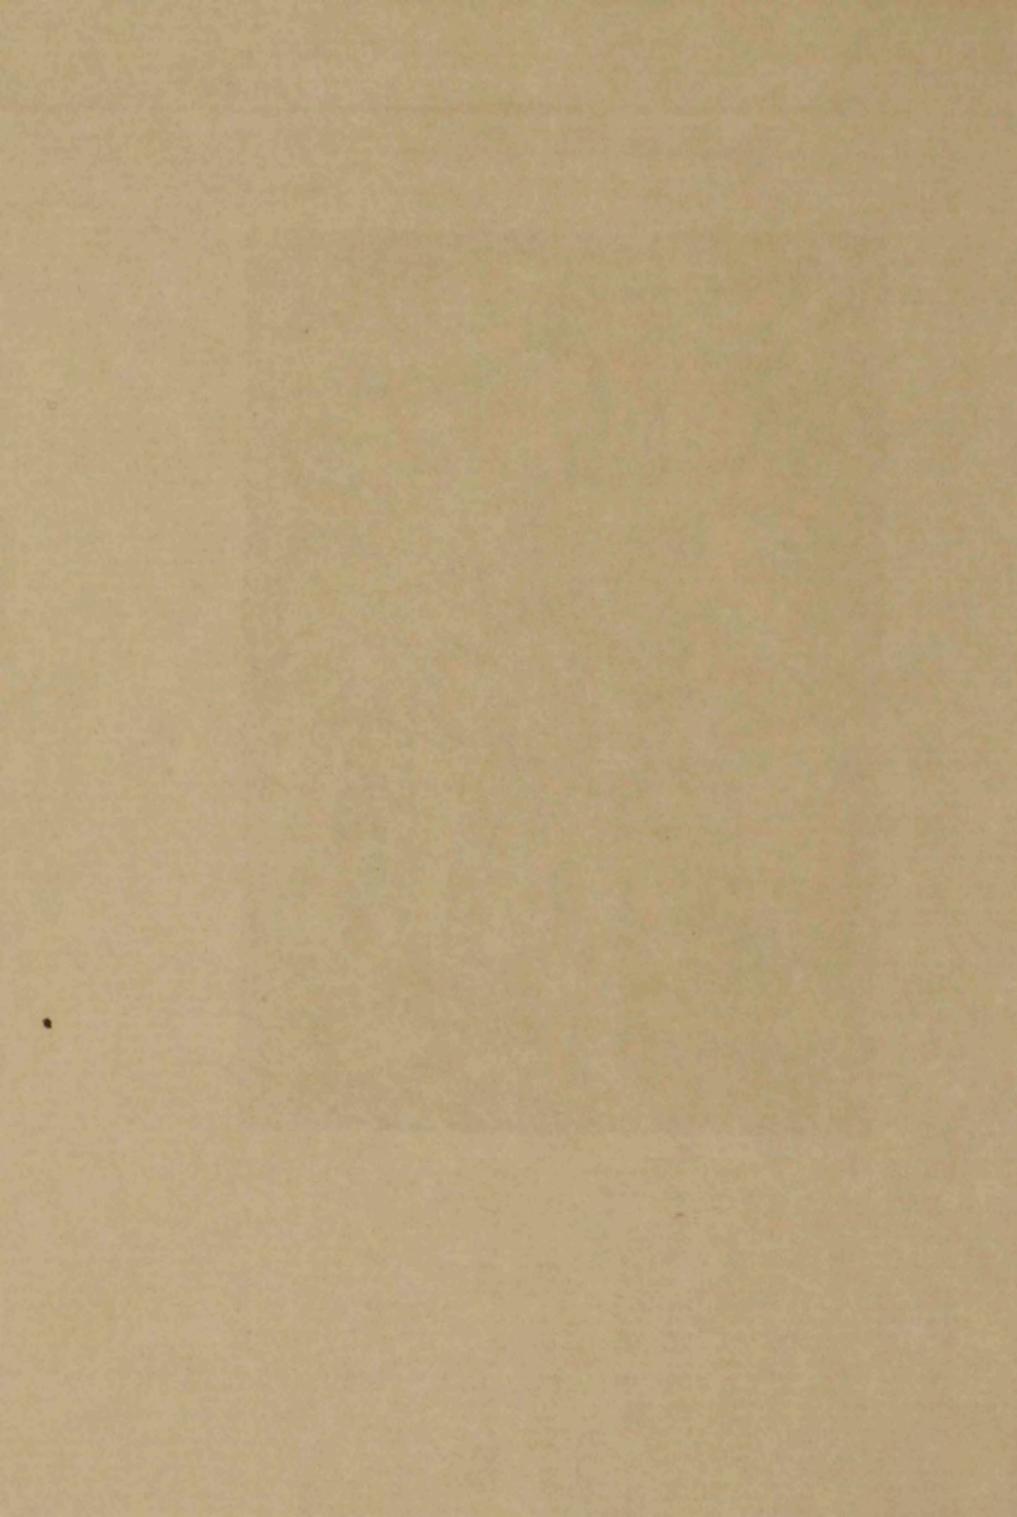

Freshman football under Coaches Harry Adams and Hinton brought forth many promising prospects. Eight all-state inter-scholastic men reported and under the able handling of the two coaches had a very successful season. Several men loom as future Grizzly stars. Bud Linville, former Billings star, led the array of backfield men along with Ramer, Webster, Rice, Ekegren, and Bessey. Linemen of promise included Blackford, Caruso, Forkum, E. and D. Hughes at tackle, Clark, Schotte, Smith and Gillan, guards. Ryan and Clack, centers. Brannon, Keyes, Rule, Golob and Currie, ends.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Although Montana ended the season with more conference defeats than victories, prospects are bright for an exceptional team next year.

Handicapped by the loss of Chief Illman, Captain and center of last year's squad, Force Baney, Obbie Berg and Russell Sweet, Coach Stewart undertook to build a team from four lettermen. Fritz Sterling, captain elect was declared ineligible at the first of the season.

With Clarence Coyle and Cloyse Overturf at forwards and Sam Kain at center, Montana plunged into a heavy schedule.

Leading prospects for guard positions were Louis Wendt and Tom Montana succeeded in taking two games from the Timber Butte Independents during the Christmas holidays. The starting lineup found Miller, Coyle and Overturf at forwards, Kain center, Larsen and Wendt at guards, and Pearce and Huber breaking into the game. These men with Kilroy and Graham, carried the burden of Montana's attack in all conference games.

MOUNT ST. CHARLES

Mount St. Charles played on the local court and dropped two games to the Grizzlies. The conference schedule fell due and the Grizzly lost games to Idaho, Washington State College, University of Washington, University of Oregon and broke even in two games with Oregon Agricultural college.

BOBCAT

The annual clash for the State title with the great Bobcat squad turned out as predicted. The Aggies, led by their all conference forward, Thompson, took two games from the Grizzlies in decisive manner, one on the Missoula court and the other at Bozeman.

WASHINGTON

The season ended with a loss to Washington. The loss of Captain Clarence Coyle from Montana basketball will be keenly felt for during his years as a member of the squad he has turned in many sensational games. Next year will find all this year's men in suits with the exception of Coyle. Ed Chinske, Bud Linville, Ted Rule and others from this year's frosh team will be available to Coach Stewart.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Freshman basketball brought forth many good Varsity prospects. Linville, all state forward of 1926 showed exceptional work. He is reputed to be one of the best men seen on local floors in many years. Miller of Livingston looked good as a forward, Rule and Buckley at center showed up well, Doherty, Mitchell, Rankin, Wilson, Robinson and Gillan worked well as guards. Wendt and Stillings were a pair of fine forwards.

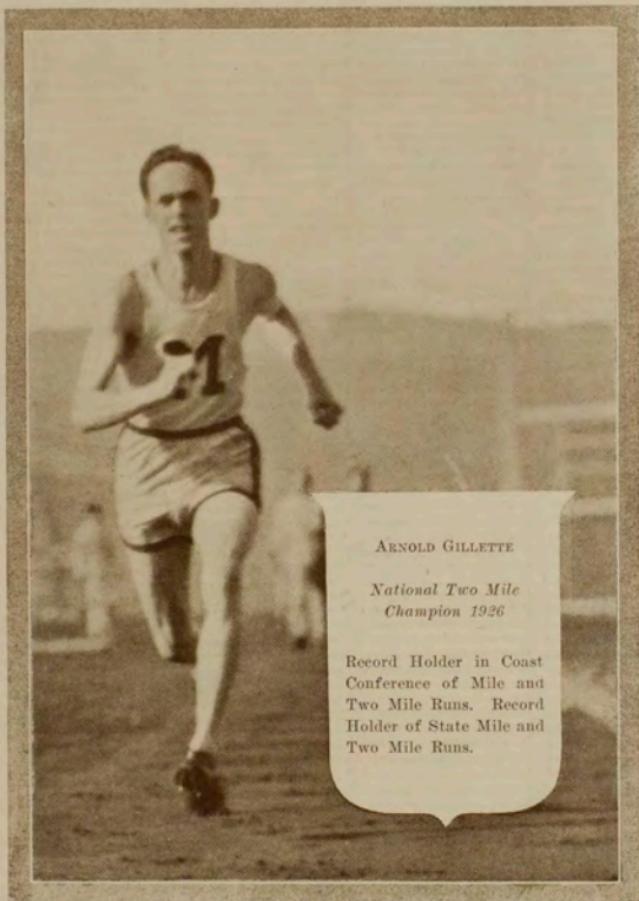

The season was very successful. Defeats were few. The Bobkittens again triumphed over the Cubs with McFarland, forward for the State frosh, starring. Coach Adams had a very successful season and developed several men that look like Varsity material.

Gillette, record holder of the Coast Conference mile and two mile runs and intercollegiate two mile champion, led the list of the greatest array of track stars yet to wear the Montana colors. Clarence Coyle, dash man, hurdler, vaulter and broad jumper, showed well from the beginning. The loss of Russell Sweet, holder of the coast conference 100 yard record and one of the country's fastest sprinters, and twelve other men from the 1926 squad handicapped Montana. Many new men appeared to fill the vacancies.

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

Ten men were taken to the Relay Carnival held at Seattle by the University of Washington.

Coyle and Tom Davis competed in the special 100 yard dash with Coyle placing fourth. Clarence Spaulding ran the special 120 yard high hurdles in 15.6, breaking the Carnival record. Clark Whitecomb took fifth in the shot put.

The two mile relay team consisting of Haines, Tysel, Adams and Gillette placed third. Montana's four mile team of Tysel, Adams, K. Davis and Captain Gillette took first place, covering the distance in 18:39 minutes. Samples, Tom Davis, Coyle and Dick Davis ran the mile relay.

MONTANA'S FIRST TRACK TEAM

In the Seattle relay of 1926 the Grizzly squad tied with the Huskies for honors. Russell Sweet set a new Relay carnival record for the 100 yard dash at 9.8.

The 1927 track schedule:

April 30—Relay Carnival, Seattle.

May 7—University of Idaho, Missoula.

May 14—Montana State College, Missoula.

May 20-28—Northern Division of Pacific Coast conference, Corvallis.

June 3-4—Pacific Coast conference, Los Angeles.

June 10-11—National Intercollegiate, Chicago.

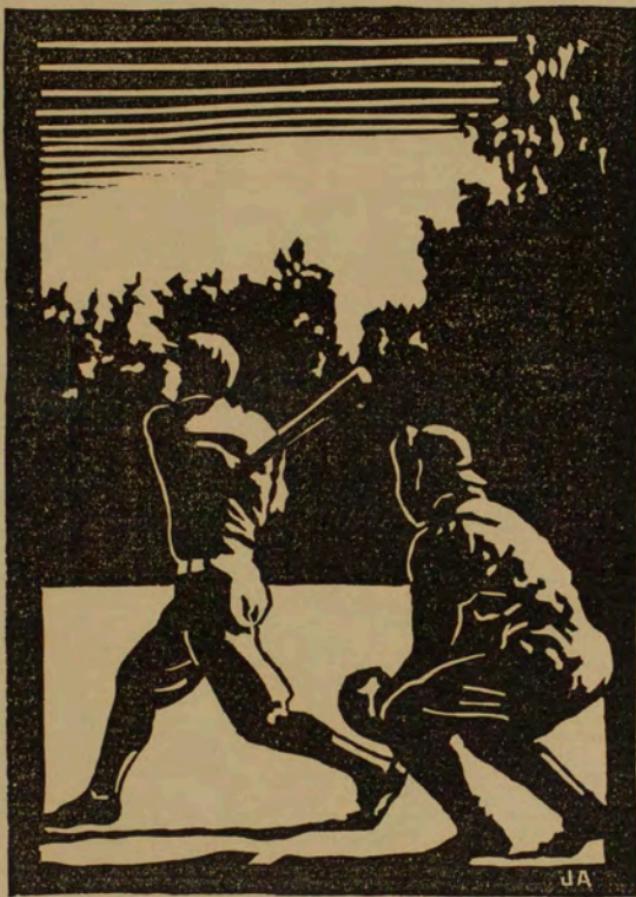

FRESHMAN SQUAD

With a host of possibilities of future Grizzly track stars the 1927 freshman squad promises to be one of the greatest yearling teams in history. The squad worked out under Coaches Stewart and Adams along with the Varsity.

In the triangular meet with Loyola and Missoula High School the cubs were easy victors. Woodworth of Stevensville was high point man of the meet with 21 points. He won the high hurdles, broad jump and 50 yard dash and placed second in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Stevensson, hurdler and sprinter, appeared as a great prospect for future Stewart squads. Nilsson, sprint sensation of 1926 Interscholastic, was unable to do much work because of illness. Parks, holder of the Interscholastic pole vault record; Priest and Fisher, hurdlers; Spencer, Perry, Middlestadt and Gillan, weight men; Clark, Keyes, Brannon, Curtiss, Reiner, Ryan and Baldwin, runners; and Burke, pole vaulter, made up the remainder of the squad.

BASEBALL

Facing the task of building a team of a few lettermen and many inexperienced ball players, Coach Milburn called the squad together at the opening of the spring quarter.

Captain Bill Kelly led the list of lettermen as a catcher and infielder. Drew, catcher and outfielder; Morrow, outfielder; Brown and Rafferty, pitchers, had all had previous experience as Grizzlies. When the large squad was weeded down Captain Kelly was found at third base, Rognlien, Callison and Fehlhaber at second base, Chinske and Callaway at short, Charteris and Reeder holding down first, Drew behind the bat, Brown, Rafferty and Wohl doing most of the pitching and Morrow, T. and B. Hodges, Ritter and Paige playing in the outfield.

The season started with several practice games with Fort Missoula; in the majority of the games the Grizzlies showed superiority. The conference schedule opened with a two game series with Idaho here. Although Montana lost both games, they showed the making of a good ball club.

Twelve games are on the Grizzly schedule this season. Two two-game series are scheduled with Idaho, one series at Moscow, the other at Missoula; Washington State College will play host to Montana at Pullman and will then journey to Missoula to fill out the schedule. Two games will be played with Gonzaga at Spokane and two two-game series with the Aggies, one series at Bozeman and the other at Missoula.

FRESHMAN BASEBALL

Freshman baseball, while not organized into teams or playing a schedule, brings out many prospects.

Bill Rafferty, varsity pitcher, had charge of the yearling squad. Under his guidance the Freshmen were instructed in the rudiments and the basic principles.

Among the many promising candidates are Robinson and Powell, pitchers; Ekegren, catcher; and Wilson, Lee, Briscoe, Clack and Miller.

Yes, there IS an end of the rainbow—at Commencement Time. Riches of knowledge acquired are there—and a rainbow trail over which you bring them back with you to the workaday world.

Enthusiasm, confidence—brightly minted coins in abundance to help you on your way to success.

Congratulations and bon voyage to the Class of 1927.

THE MONTANA POWER COMPANY

is the second largest exclusively hydroelectric generating and distributing enterprise in the United States.

Eight interconnected generating plants, located on the Missouri River and its tributaries and on the Clark Fork of the Columbia, with a capacity of 227,000 kilowatts, have an annual output of 1,100,000,000 kilowatt hours, and an annual load factor of more than 80 per cent.

This Company has no steam reserve,
but has a water storage reserve of 600,- 000 acre feet, equivalent to 3,000,000,- 000 kilowatt hours per year.

Its 2223 miles of transmission lines cover an area of 1½ times that of New England, in which live 70 per cent of the population of Montana.

The Company supplies light, heat and power to 82 Montana cities and towns, to 150 miles of electrified transcontinental railroads (Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul), to the coal and metal mines of the State and some of the world's largest metallurgical plants engaged in the recovery of gold, silver, copper, zinc and lead.

The Electrical World rates this Company's annual output as second only to that of Niagara Falls Power Company among the exclusively hydroelectric enterprises; and among all the companies in the United States, both steam and hydroelectric, fourth in developed hydroelectric capacity and ninth in total output.

A Service That Is Outstanding

When, in June, 1909, Mr. Penney, after seven years and two months of arduous and painstaking work, gave over the management of our "Mother Store" in Wyoming to an assistant whom he had trained to merchandise and sell the Golden Rule way, he completed the cutting of a pattern for efficient store-keeping.

During all the years that have followed, this now world-famed pattern has stood out as the supreme achievement in broad store service to the public.

People have benefited to the extent of millions of dollars saved in the cost of the requisites of life.

Achievement---

TO HAVE had a part in the up-building program and growth of our Community—To have been able to stand the test of years, meeting the constantly changing demands of the Public, is to have achieved much—

But to have gained the name of dependability and fairness, to have rendered courteous service to all, to have had patrons become our friends for 26 long years is the great achievement of which we are Justly Proud.

THE BLACK HEART
or
How Oswald Came Home

Oswald returned from college. His parents, etc. were astonished. His clothes were smartly tailored, his golf socks and ties were of hot original design. On his face was the blank expression of one obnoxiously "K'Llegiate." Why—? On his vest appeared a sinister sign: a black heart—skull and cross bones But like a diamond in the rough, that heart was surrounded by pearls of wisdom.

DO YOU KNOW?

That when you place an order for transfer work, you are not making a purchase of material, but are hiring a service.

You are employing an experienced man and his equipment to the extent required for doing a certain piece of work.

What do you get? That depends on whom you hire. Service cannot be given without equipment, experience, intelligent judgment and a desire to be careful of the things placed in their care, when—rendering prompt service.

MONTANA'S NEW FORESTRY LAB

By Clarence Powell

Two and one-half square miles of the finest Larch, Douglas Fir and Yellow Pine timber in the state comprise the new forest placed at the disposal of the School of Forestry of the University, through the courtesy of the War Department and the United States Forest Service. From the furthest corner on the campus extension to the southeast, and by highway, the school forest is but three miles distant.

When Fort Missoula was established in the late '70's, the War Department wisely made provision for a continuous supply of fuel and building material by setting aside this timber reservation. It is needless to state that the choicest stand in the vicinity was thus reserved. From time to time the troops at Fort Missoula removed a little of the timber for their own uses—but the bulk of the forest remains intact—free from devastation and from forest fire. This is the area that has now been dedicated to the permanent use of the University and its School of Forestry—as a field laboratory, as an experiment station in the forest types native to the site, and as a work-shop to determine, if it be possible, the financial aspects of continuous forest production from the standpoint of the private timber land owner.

It is doubtful if any Forestry school in the United States possesses a better or more accessible forest laboratory. To take full advantage of its native resources will require the construction of a field laboratory building, for the use of both under-graduates and research workers, the erection of five towers, the making of the area fire safe, and the gradual conversion of the area from a wild wood to the highest type of managed forest.
